

CLEARY ARRAIGNED, BACK IN PRISON

Slayer of Daughter's Boy Husband Chooses to Waive Examination.

HE DOES NOT LOOK AT VICTIM'S FATHER

Crowd of Old Friends at Court—
Feeling for Prisoner Veers
—Widowed Bride Ill.

From The Tribune Correspondent.
Haverstraw, N. Y., July 27.—In another room of the village corporation building, in which he shot and killed his son-in-law, Eugene M. Newman, last Thursday, William W. Cleary, town clerk for fourteen years, was arraigned to-day for murder.

Through his counsel, Frank Connelly, of Nyack, he waived examination. The proceedings lasted little more than five minutes. His principal feature was the evidence that sentiment here is veering round from a favorable attitude toward the prisoner to a desire to see him in prison.

Cleary left the county jail at New City at 9:15 o'clock in an automobile, manhandled between Sheriff Serven and Deputy Sheriff De Noyles. They made the run of five miles at high speed, and drew up at the entrance to the court to find there about four hundred fellow townsmen of the principals in the case.

Cleary was the picture of despair as he slunk into the courtroom, where Justice McCabe was to preside. Fred M. Newman, father of the prisoner's victim, was there, but not once during the brief session did the eyes of the two meet.

Cleary looks downcast. Cleary scarcely lifted his eyes as he sat, his shoulders drooping, his face bent toward the floor. He was obviously glad when the formalities had been observed and he could go back to the jail to await the action of the grand jury.

Many of his old friends were on hand, some as officers of the law. Both Justice McCabe and District Attorney Gagan, whose duty it is to prosecute the man who wielded enormous power in the Democratic politics of Rockland County for years, were his critics.

Mrs. Cleary was at the jail when her husband returned. She remained in conference with him for two hours. Her first question to the officers was about the court proceedings. She was informed that he was held and probably would be charged with murder in the first degree, conviction of which means the electric chair.

Mrs. Cleary told him of the conditions of their daughter, whose runaway marriage the Saturday before the killing paved the way to the fatal four shots. The widowed bride has been ill since then and is now using her husband was taken by her father. She will not be able to visit him in his cell for some time.

Friends Visit Prisoner. Following the departure of Mrs. Cleary several politicians from this town went over to cheer the prisoner. Apparently there is no halt in the social activities of the most prominent occupant of the jail has had in years. He has the most comfortable quarters possible in the rickety old prison.

According to the present outlook, Cleary's case will be considered within two months. The grand jury will convene September 21. Justice Isaac N. Mills, of Mount Vernon, will preside. The drawing of the members will be in the hands of County Judge William McCauley and Sheriff Serven, both fellow party workers of the prisoner, and County Clerk John V. Sherwood.

The story is current in Haverstraw to-day that young Newman had talked to his father-in-law about getting married. Cleary, from the jail, would not say, and even intimated that as town clerk he would refuse to issue a license.

Critics point out the fact that the town clerk made up his mind to marry Miss Cleary. The disappearance of the revolver is a constant source of speculation.

PRISONER CHASED FROM TOMBS GATE

Keeper, Taking New Arrival for Intoxicated Visitor, Drives
Him Off.

"Kid" Noonan, alias Edward Rayton, who was reported Sunday to have escaped from the Tombs Saturday, was chased from the Tombs gate to-day by a guard.

Rayton was brought to the prison on a charge of petit larceny Saturday afternoon in a van with thirteen other prisoners, said Miss Davis yesterday. He was taken up to the second floor, and while the arrivals were waiting he went to their cells he mingled with a crowd of visitors and wandered down to the gate.

The keeper at the gate noticed that the man was intoxicated and asked him what he was doing there. He replied that he had been visiting a friend. The keeper asked him for his pass, but he could not show it. So the keeper, thinking he had no business there, chased him out.

"Of course, I shall ask the keepers for explanations, but I think the most important point is that this incident is an added argument for the need of estimate to think about when they take up our request for money to turn the old warden's house into a visitors' house, so that we can keep them separate from the prisoners."

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

RICHARDS FOR RECEIVER
Court Names Superintendent
for Schwenk Banks.

Judge Vender, in the United States Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday appointed Eugene Lamb Richards, State Superintendent of Banks, receiver of the Schwenk banks, owned by L. W. Schwenk, at Grand and Bedford aves., Brooklyn, and at Jamaica, Long Island, which were closed a few days ago. He is to serve without fee and furnish bond of $5,000.

TOWN CLERK CLEARLY GOING TO COURT.

FATHER GETS 'POOR LITTLE RICH GIRL' IN 'DRUG' ROUND-UP

Child Who Was Locked Up Former Clerk in Famous
To Be Left in Charge All-Night Drug Store of Neighbors. Arrested.

Dorothy Whittemore, the nine-year-old "poor little rich girl" rescued from her home in Harmony Park, Yonkers, where she was locked up by day while her father, Reginald G. Whittemore, a broker, was at his office, was returned to him yesterday. For a while, anyone who heard of the charge of cruelty to children made against him by Charles Warner, agent of the Children's Society, was adjourned until Friday. In the meantime neighbors will look after the girl during the day while Whittemore is at his office.

Judge Beall seemed disposed to leave her with her father, who has reared her since her mother died, seven years ago, providing Whittemore said he would look after her properly. He said that he had recently been looking after her. Whittemore said to the court: "For seven years I have given the best in me to the care of the child. God knows how hard I have tried to do everything for her. I have seen her grow up. I have seen her become a young woman. I have seen her become a mother and nurse. I have been a father, mother and nurse. I have been a slave for her. I have sacrificed my business to her welfare. If I have made any mistakes, I have made them in her interest. I have been through poor judgment and not intent. She is my life."

He added that he was prepared to furnish a suite in the Edgemoor apartment house on Woodworth ave., Yonkers, which he owns, and have Mrs. Clara Wilson look after Dorothy there. But Agent Warner thought, because there are some furnished room tenants there, it was not a suitable place for the girl. Then Whittemore said he believed he could induce one of his relatives to look after her.

Until he decided what arrangements can be made Dorothy will remain at home. When the judge asked her whether she preferred to go to the society's shelter or to Mrs. Wilson at the apartment house, Dorothy replied: "I'd rather go to Mrs. Wilson."

She was then taken to her father's home. She said she had some green pears there, "and they made me awfully sick."

BUDAPEST DOCTOR LOST
Father Starts Search Here; Offers $10,000 Reward.

Ten thousand dollars reward is offered by Emil Havas, manager of the Budapest Bank, of Budapest, Hungary, for information leading to the return of his son, Dr. Ernest Havas, who has been missing since March 28, 1912. Lieutenant Grant Williams, in charge of the "missing persons" bureau at Police Headquarters, received yesterday a letter from the police of Budapest asking that search be made here for the missing man.

The circular says he is twenty-seven years old, unmarried, a bank clerk, brown hair, blue eyes, dark blue suit, and while the arrivals were waiting he went to their cells he mingled with a crowd of visitors and wandered down to the gate.

The keeper at the gate noticed that the man was intoxicated and asked him what he was doing there. He replied that he had been visiting a friend. The keeper asked him for his pass, but he could not show it. So the keeper, thinking he had no business there, chased him out.

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

RICHARDS FOR RECEIVER
Court Names Superintendent
for Schwenk Banks.

Judge Vender, in the United States Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday appointed Eugene Lamb Richards, State Superintendent of Banks, receiver of the Schwenk banks, owned by L. W. Schwenk, at Grand and Bedford aves., Brooklyn, and at Jamaica, Long Island, which were closed a few days ago. He is to serve without fee and furnish bond of $5,000.

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

RICHARDS FOR RECEIVER
Court Names Superintendent
for Schwenk Banks.

Judge Vender, in the United States Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday appointed Eugene Lamb Richards, State Superintendent of Banks, receiver of the Schwenk banks, owned by L. W. Schwenk, at Grand and Bedford aves., Brooklyn, and at Jamaica, Long Island, which were closed a few days ago. He is to serve without fee and furnish bond of $5,000.

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

CREDITORS CHOP CLAFIN ASSETS

Prune $20,000,000 from Report
Submitted by Expert Accountant.

NOTEHOLDERS WORK
ON NEW ESTIMATE

Plans for Reorganization in Progress, and Will Be Given Out This Week.

As the result of an overhauling by creditors yesterday of the accountants' report on the condition of the H. B. Clafin Company, it was reported that a serious difference of opinion has arisen as to the value of the assets. A decrease of approximately $20,000,000 is hinted.

According to the report, made public on Friday, the assets are $55,550,000, with liabilities of approximately $15,000,000. When the various creditors' representatives finished pruning yesterday it was said that the assets had been cut down to between $35,000,000 and $35,500,000.

The general merchandise creditors committee met at the Woolworth Building and went over the figures. In the meantime J. H. Harfield, counsel for the noteholders' committee, was engaged in the same task with Morgan J. O'Brien, counsel for H. B. Clafin.

Harfield Examines Assets. The conference between Mr. Harfield and Judge O'Brien lasted for more than two hours. Judge O'Brien said they had been engaged in trying to reach a common ground. He said that the assets of the H. B. Clafin Company retail store were $20,000,000, but gave no estimate of the assets of the corporation itself, which have been estimated as between $15,000,000 and $17,000,000.

Mr. Harfield is now at work on a statement giving his clients' views of the company's condition. This will be ready for the public in a day or two. If the creditors' estimates of the assets and the acid test it will mean that something like 20 per cent of the claims will be realized. It was even intimated yesterday that there might be a decrease in this figure when the actual assets of the company are agreed upon.

The plans for a reorganization are now in progress and are expected to be ready within a week. There will be at least two plans— one submitted by Mr. Clafin, the other by Mr. Harfield on behalf of the noteholders' committee. The general merchandise creditors' committee will work in harmony with the noteholders' committee. After the plans for reorganization have been submitted there will be a general conference, and the plan that meets the approval of the majority will be put into effect.

As a result of the amalgamation of the two creditors' committees it is understood that Frederick Lehmann has dropped his connection with the proceedings. Mr. Lehmann was at the meeting yesterday, and after it was over had a chat with Mr. Harfield. It was said that Mr. Lehmann had been a member of the noteholders' committee and the creditors' committee as much help as he could.

Yesterday the number of noteholders who agreed to abide by the work of the committee increased, until now more than 50 per cent of the notes held against the concern are represented by the body. Since Friday approximately $400,000 additional notes have been received.

Fifteen out of the sixteen members of the general creditors' committee were present yesterday. Rosenberg, Lewis & Baker were selected as counsel. Edwin H. Baker was named as chairman. He appointed an executive committee consisting of Edmund Wright, chairman; Frederick W. Wakefield, Bertram H. Borden, Holmes J. Carver and Arthur H. Collins. Mr. Collins was elected secretary of the committee.

The secretaries of the two merchandise creditors' committees were present yesterday. The committee's statement of the claims they represented, and to arrange to place all such claims in the hands of the present official committee.

SAYS THUGS WERE HIRED
Victim of Assault Names Husband of Adele Ritchie.

Charles Nelson Bell, husband of Adele Ritchie, musical comedy actress, is being sought by the Newark police in connection with an assault on George A. Speel, who is employed by an automobile repair house, now committed to the county jail.

Speel was committed early Friday morning at the corner of Broad and Cedar sts., Newark. Speel was on his way home when he was attacked by two thugs and beaten. He was taken to a hospital, where he was held for a few days. He was then released, but he was still in poor health.

There were quite a number of people in the house at the time. They say that they were in the house in two rooms they owned. A first Shaprio, who had in the place three jars of opium and a jar said to contain morphine, while the woman, is said, had a dark blue suit, and while the arrivals were waiting he went to their cells he mingled with a crowd of visitors and wandered down to the gate.

The keeper at the gate noticed that the man was intoxicated and asked him what he was doing there. He replied that he had been visiting a friend. The keeper asked him for his pass, but he could not show it. So the keeper, thinking he had no business there, chased him out.

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

RICHARDS FOR RECEIVER
Court Names Superintendent
for Schwenk Banks.

Judge Vender, in the United States Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday appointed Eugene Lamb Richards, State Superintendent of Banks, receiver of the Schwenk banks, owned by L. W. Schwenk, at Grand and Bedford aves., Brooklyn, and at Jamaica, Long Island, which were closed a few days ago. He is to serve without fee and furnish bond of $5,000.

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

RICHARDS FOR RECEIVER
Court Names Superintendent
for Schwenk Banks.

Judge Vender, in the United States Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday appointed Eugene Lamb Richards, State Superintendent of Banks, receiver of the Schwenk banks, owned by L. W. Schwenk, at Grand and Bedford aves., Brooklyn, and at Jamaica, Long Island, which were closed a few days ago. He is to serve without fee and furnish bond of $5,000.

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

RICHARDS FOR RECEIVER
Court Names Superintendent
for Schwenk Banks.

Judge Vender, in the United States Court, in Brooklyn, yesterday appointed Eugene Lamb Richards, State Superintendent of Banks, receiver of the Schwenk banks, owned by L. W. Schwenk, at Grand and Bedford aves., Brooklyn, and at Jamaica, Long Island, which were closed a few days ago. He is to serve without fee and furnish bond of $5,000.

When the escape was first discovered an effort was made to conceal it from the Commissioner by some of the keepers involved. They tried to make a search for the prisoner themselves. When it could be concealed no longer the woman's disguise story was put out to make things easier for them.

TRIXIE FRIGANZA TO BREAK HUSBAND-MANAGER CONTRACT

Broadway Surprised by Vaudeville Star's Suit in Chicago for Divorce from C. A. Goettler—Admits 40's Too Old for Actress to Wed with Any Sense of Security.

Dispatches from Chicago last night telling of the filing by Trixie Friganza, musical comedy and vaudeville star, of a suit for divorce against Charles A. Goettler, created surprise on Broadway and consternation in Rensselaer and Bath Beach, where the former Delia O'Callahan has been a loved institution these many years.

At the Friganza home, 8709 21st av., the sister of the actress said Trixie's action was a surprise to her. She said that the couple hadn't been any too congenial. The Chicago reports said they had not lived together since February.

She said she was a little more than two years ago, March 10, 1912, when Trixie gave the three places mentioned a shock by becoming the wife of her longtime manager. She admitted to an inquisitive person at the marriage license bureau that she was forty years old. She admitted yesterday that Trixie's too old for an actress to wed with any sense of security.

According to the suit filed yesterday, Trixie had failed to keep an account of her husband's earnings, and she had failed to keep an account of her husband's earnings, and she had failed to keep an account of her husband's earnings.

MRS. CARMAN HOME, DETECTIVE FINDS A NERVOUS WRECK

Curious Give Her No Rest at Farm—On Verge of Collapse.

Freeport, Long Island, July 27. Postered out of all chance to rest at Raven Rock, N. J., the Carman returned home unexpectedly by automobile this morning. Within half an hour machines began to whizz up to the door of the doctor's house, and thirty were counted in a short time. Only intimate personal friends were allowed to see Mrs. Carman.

Mrs. Carman is a nervous wreck. She leaned heavily on her husband's arm as she got out of their car. After she had gone upstairs to her mother, Mrs. Platt Conklin, who is ill, the doctor described the case.

She told the detective this evening that she had promised to marry the girl, but had failed to keep an account of her husband's earnings, and she had failed to keep an account of her husband's earnings.

The girl told a pathetic story of her wanderings since she was deserted by Weigman. Arriving in Manhattan, she was taken to the City Hall, where she was taken to the City Hall, where she was taken to the City Hall.

When Detective Galatin went there this afternoon the girl admitted her identity and said she wanted to go home.

MODERN PHYRNE
WINS FREEDOM

This One Bares Bruises She Says Patrolman Gave Her
Before Arrest.

Removing her light blouse and standing before Magistrate Nolan in Essex Market court, concealing practically nothing from the waist up, Mrs. Paulina Dudzinski, of 615 East 10th st., accused Patrolman Rich, of the 5th st. station, yesterday of cruelly beating her.

The woman was brought in from the Schenck Bank, at 130 East 7th st., which was closed several days ago by the State Banking Department. She had been there all morning, according to the patrolman, creating disorder by her speeches to the throngs of depositors, who continue to loiter about the bank in the hope that by some good fortune their money will be forthcoming.

Patrolman Rich said she had whacked him smartly in the face and kicked his shins. He averred that her bruises were caused by friends who had tried to restrain her.

"My eldest son is in the United States army," she told the court. "The mother of a soldier of this great country should have been so miserably treated."

It was found that she might go, but that if found at the bank again she would be sent to the workhouse, the woman replied that she would rather go there than see her children starve.

THEFT OF POWDER I. W. W. TRIAL SCARE

Mysterious Robbery of 250 Pounds from Arsenal
Alarms Tarrytown.

POLICE GUARDS
FOR COURT TO-DAY

"Becky" Edelson to Adjourn
Workhouse Hunger Strike
Until She Testifies.

Whether 250 pounds of powder, mysteriously stolen from the Greenburg arsenal of the Du Pont Powder Company yesterday, found its way into the hands of I. W. W. agitators, nine of whose friends will go on trial at 11 o'clock this forenoon at Judge Moorehouse and the court attendants.

Every precaution has been taken in making arrangements for police and detectives. Pressure has been exerted on President Forester and the village trustees for convictions and suspended sentences, but nothing has been promised friends of the accused.

The powder incident became known last night, when the Du Pont company informed Judge Moorehouse of its suspicions.

Becky Edelson will leave the workhouse to-day, but not as a martyr, nor under a $300 peace bond, as she had planned. She will leave under a writ of habeas corpus, obtained by her counsel, Justus Sheffield, to have her present at the trials in Tarrytown.

Her lawyer had read of her great desire to get out of the workhouse. He was surprised from his vacation yesterday to see her. It had been her plan to get released under a peace bond and then make fiery speeches denouncing the I. W. W. movement.

Mr. Sheffield told of the writ of habeas corpus as a means of temporary freedom, and she decided to give up her other plans. Mr. Sheffield then consulted with Dr. Davis whether she would permit her to go upon service of a writ. Under the law if the physical condition of a prisoner is such that it is in the opinion of a prison physician she should not be permitted out on a writ calling for her appearance in court in another action need not be observed.

Dr. Davis talked with Dr. Ernest B. Katze, consulting physician at the workhouse. Dr. Bishop said he thought it would be all right for Becky to go to Tarrytown this morning. Then Dr. Davis assured Dr. Sheffield that the I. W. W. movement was not a danger to the public. Dr. Bishop said he would permit her to go upon service of a writ.

Becky, however, demands that she be forcibly fed. She even specifies which of the prison physicians shall do it. Dr. Katze, however, is not a member of the I. W. W. movement. Dr. Bishop said he would permit her to go upon service of a writ.

Meanwhile she is taking her eggs and sherry, and she will keep her in good shape for hunger striking.

The "immoderate and profane" language used by George H. Swasey, an English silversmith, who took a speaking part in an open air discussion on religious and capitalist questions promoted by the Harlem Educational Alliance in Madison Square yesterday, caused him to be arrested and taken to the Essex Market court, where Magistrate Nolan found him guilty. He will pass the next sixty days in the workhouse. Swasey is said to have taken a prominent part in I. W. W. meetings and demonstrations. The Englishman was a member of the Alliance, but was permitted to make a speech.

Pending a decision on a writ of habeas corpus the Rev. Bouck White yesterday enjoyed a day of freedom outside the walls of the Long Island City jail, where he was sent on May 12 for a term of six months for disturbing worship in Calvary Baptist Church, Fifth av., Manhattan.

Mrs. Bertha B. Brough, attorney for White, obtained the writ, and he was taken before Justice Maddox in the Supreme Court, Brooklyn, yesterday, where argument was heard. It was contended that White should not have been convicted of disorderly conduct because the facts presented before Magistrate Campbell showed that he was guilty of a misdemeanor, which is a higher crime.

"The defendant got off mighty easily," remarked Justice Maddox. Assistant District Attorney Stanley L. Richter, of Whitman's office, is moving to dismiss the writ, said to be ridiculous for a man to object because he was convicted of disorderly conduct, one of the one of which he was really guilty and he permitted to walk the streets a free man because the law did not reach out far enough for him.

Justice Maddox directed counsel to submit briefs this morning.

BEDLAM ON LINER
AS LIONS ROAR

The Minnewaska Carries Jungle
Cargo and Passengers
Bolt Their Doors.

Two lions, not of the social order, kept things lively on the voyage from London of the steamer Minnewaska, of the Atlantic Transport Line, which arrived here yesterday.

For the first few days out passengers listened to awe-inspiring rumbles and roars ascending from the lower parts of the vessel and wondered what the cause was. When it was learned that two lions fresh from the jungles of Nairobi were aboard considerable uneasiness was felt. Before retiring for the night more than one passenger dragged the steam trap from beneath the lower berth and piled it up in the stateroom furniture against the door.

The lions, however, did not escape. They contented themselves with roaring all night and all day, keeping up a hundred breeding horses from French and Belgian stock in terror. Twenty-four African monkeys, also part of the cargo, were kept in cages, gleefully in their cages, feeling quite at home in the turmoil. The lions and monkeys were consigned to an animal dealer.

Also on the Minnewaska was the

AMUSEMENTS.

WINTER GARDEN Broadway and 50th St. Mat. 2:30. P. 7:30. 1914 PASSING SHOW OF 1914 MAXINE ELLIOTT'S 1000 Apptment 12-K COMEDY THEATRE, 61st East of Broadway. 8:30. P. 7:30. KITTY MACKEY 1000 Broadway. 8:30. P. 7:30. TOO MANY COOKS 1000 Broadway. 8:30. P. 7:30. RAINY'S 1914 African Hunt Pictures 1000 Broadway. 8:30. P. 7:30.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

Begin Filling the Places of Striking Union Men.

As a result of rumors that the produce merchants whose egg candlers have been ordered on strike by the Egg Canners' Union were going to ignore the warning of the union officials of the dangers of unskilled egg candlers and employ girls, several girls applied for work as candlers yesterday.

Eight girls were selected from numerous applicants by a district of the large firms affected by the strike. The question of wages here is little in the dispute, the main demand being the closed shop.

I. B. Miller, of L. B. Miller & Son, 145 Reade st., said that the firm's egg candlers who struck had been in its employment from eight to nine years on an average, and before the strike the best of feeling existed between them and the firm.

"None of these strikers will ever be employed by the firm again," Mr. Miller continued. "We were paying them before the strike the wages they are now demanding, but we would lose control of our own business if we yielded to some of the other union demands."

Judge of the tree by its fruit.

Judge of the "extra values" now among our men's Summer mixture suits by what you know of the quality of our clothes at regular prices.

Certainly "your money back" holds good for mark downs.

Revising prices simply means giving you better value for what you want to spend.

Branching out in another direction—

"Solo" socks—regular 35c value. 25c.

Bat-wing ties—regularly 50c, 75c and $1.00. 25c.

ROGERS PEET COMPANY, Three Broadway Stores at Warren St. 13th St. 34th St.

QUICK-WOOD (MADRAS) 2for 25c RED MAN COLLARS TROY'S BEST PRODUCT AMUSEMENTS.

These New York Leading Theatres Have No Doubts about the Success of NEW AMSTERDAM 1000 Broadway. 8:30. P. 7:30. NILES THE DARE DEVIL AVIATOR 1000 Broadway. 8:30. P. 7:30. FLIES UP THE CONEY ISLAND FREE BEGIN TO-MORROW DAILY 2 AND 5 P. M.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.

AMUSEMENTS.